

NACKEY S. LOEB SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATIONS

The Nackey S. Loeb School of Communications is proud to present “The Constitution for Teachers,” a half-day workshop to examine the document that is the primary law of our democratic republic.

The workshop will be held at the school from 8:30 to 12:00 on Aug. 12. It is designed to provide curriculum ideas and discussion points for classroom teachers and school media advisers. Registration is $30. Register at www.loebschool.org or by calling the school at 627-0005.

The workshop will be led by Attorney Gregory V. Sullivan, who has argued before the New Hampshire Supreme Court in several landmark First Amendment and public access cases. Attorney Sullivan will explore how the three branches of the Federal Government interact with each other, with the 50 states and with the rights of American citizens, all as prescribed by the Constitution.

The Constitutional Amendments will be discussed, with an emphasis on the Bill of Rights and the five freedoms of the First Amendment. Participants also will discuss the role and significance of societal change as reflected in the Amendments.

The session is supported by New Hampshire’s Constitution Day program, which includes 8 newspapers and New Hampshire Public Television. It will provide teachers with information and curriculum for general studies on the Constitution and help prepare students to participate in next fall’s Constitution Day lessons and essay contest.

Attorney Sullivan is president of Malloy & Sullivan, Lawyers Professional Corporation, a law firm with offices in Manchester and Hingham, Mass. He teaches First Amendment Law at Suffolk University Law School and the Nackey S. Loeb School of Communications and is corporate counsel for the New Hampshire Union Leader. Attorney Sullivan also serves as Special Assistant Attorney General for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
