

Loeb School Displays Educator's Artwork

Manchester -- Works of New Hampshire artist, illustrator and educator Ron Plante are on exhibit at the Nackey S. Loeb School of Communications. The exhibit includes newly completed watercolors, oils and charcoal and pencil drawings.

Hours for the ongoing display are Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, from 8:30 am to 2:30 pm. Please call first to assure accessibility: (603) 627-0005.

Ron Plante has devoted his career to the pursuit of excellence in fine art, graphic design, illustration and visual communication. Known as Le Grand Fromage, his experience includes owning and operating a successful design and illustration studio and working as a fine art and graphic design college professor. Ron has held professional positions in art, graphics and print design, leadership, education, management and production. He developed and teaches a Cartoons and Illustrations course at the Loeb School and is donating a portion of the proceeds from exhibit sales to the non-profit school.
